

Underwriting Continuing Education Certification Program Frequently Asked Questions – April 2022

Q1: Why are we implementing an industry-wide Underwriting Continuing Education Certification (UW CE) Program?

A: Three main reasons are:

- 1) To introduce a globally recognized underwriting certification program, keeping underwriters at the forefront of the insurance industry
- 2) To expand knowledge and skills, promoting the benefits of company & industry continuing education
- 3) To promote the importance of underwriting professionalism through continuing education

Q2: Who is the intended audience?

A: The UW CE Program is applicable for all underwriting professionals. An underwriter who meets the criteria will be recognized as a Certified Professional Underwriter.

Q3: What does this mean for my FALU designation?

A: One of our guiding principles was to maintain the incredible value of the Fellow, Academy of Life Underwriting (FALU) designation. An underwriter with their FALU designation who meets the criteria will also be recognized as a Certified FALU.

Q4: Will this plan enhance my ability to meet my personal continuing education performance goal?

A: Yes, it will complement achieving your internal Continuing Education goals. Our plan will give you a road map and a central location to report all your progress.

Q5: Do I need to make my manager aware that I am following this Continuing Education plan?

A: This plan has gained wide industry acceptance, but it is prudent to make your manager aware of your personal development goals and the importance of Continuing Education.

Q6: When did the UW CE Program take effect?

A: January 2021. To kick start certification of our profession, the first cycle was introduced for one (1) year with 20 CE Credits required (from Jan 1, 2021, to Dec 31, 2021).

Q7: What does the UW CE Program look like now, after the first-year certification period in 2021?

A: The two-year certification cycle started January 2022, with 50 CE Credits required over a two (2) year period (from Jan 1, 2022, to Dec 31, 2023). The next certification period will run from Jan 1, 2024, to Dec 31, 2025.

Q8: Will the programs have a two-year rolling cycle?

A: No. For ease of administration, we decided to keep it as a static two-year certification period. The first cycle is one year (2021), with all subsequent cycles covering two-year periods (2022-2023, 2024-2025, 2026-2027, etc.)

Q9: What happens if I start mid-year or mid-cycle?

A: You can apply any CE Credits attained during the certification period.

Q10: How do new underwriters get all their CE credits?

A: The committee designed this program so that all levels of underwriters will be able to get their credits for each cycle. It may be challenging, but fully attainable. One of the benefits of the program is that underwriters can achieve their goals through webinars, publications such as On-the-Risk, and other online education opportunities offered throughout the year.

Q11: How is a CE Credit defined?

A: One (1) CE Credit is generally equivalent to 50 minutes of educational content. Refer to the CE Program Credits Document for a list of activities and their corresponding credit allocation.

Q12: Is there a cost to participate in the program?

A: There is no cost to individual underwriters or their companies.

Q13: Does there need to be a certain level of participation in the industry?

A: While there is not a required level of industry participation, we expect the program will enhance growth and development opportunities for each participant underwriter.

Q14: Can we roll credits over from one certification period to another?

A: Credits from the initial certification period in 2021 will not be allowed to rollover to the two-year accreditation period. The regular certification program started in January 2022 it will cover two (2) calendar years. Credits apply during the certification period in which they were earned.

Q15: What if I forget to track my progress before the end of the certification period?

A: Reporting of credits can continue until the end of January of the next certification period. For example, if a participant completed CE credits at any time during the 2022-23 certification cycle, credits can be reported until January 31, 2024.

Q16: When can I enter my progress in the tracking tool?

A: Updating as you go or at regular intervals might make it easier for you to track all eligible activities, however you can enter your CE Credits at any time during the 2-year cycle.

Q17: Does attending a sales meeting count for CE credits?

A: All credits are based on relevance to your underwriting and leadership career.

Q18: How do I track credits and where do I record my CE Credit activities?

A: The Academy of Life Underwriting (ALU) website will be your portal. Sign into "My Account" at www.alu-web.com and start tracking! If you do not yet have a profile, sign-up is simple and free. Your account will be private and requires a password.

Q19: What records must I keep to prove compliance?

A: A log of activity will be required in the tracking tool, showing how you met the terms of that requirement in its entirety.

Q20: Will CE Credits be audited?

A: Yes, one of our guiding principles was that education credits may be subject to audit. We felt it was important to maintain the integrity of the program and self-reporting process.

Q21: What is the purpose of the audit?

A: An audit works to ensure good faith compliance on the part of all underwriters, without requiring everyone to submit cumbersome paperwork. Early on, the audit will help us enhance the program and ensure that everyone understands the requirements.

Q22: How will you monitor compliance?

A: We will not take an active role in enforcement or verification. We will randomly audit a small number of members and look for outliers through an automated tracking tool.

Q23: If my activity is subject to audit, what proof do I need to provide?

A: None. There is no requirement to keep meeting handouts, attendance records, notes or any other method of documentation. You are not responsible for retaining proof of attendance at structured events, where attendance can be verified. We may reach out to you or your manager and ask for details of credits earned.

Q24: Can I run a report to show what I have completed to date?

A: Yes, you will have the ability to print a summary of your progress and request confirmation of your certification from the administrator through "My Account" on the ALU website.

Q25: Can I obtain all my CE Credits through internal training presentations?

A: Some categories have maximum allowable credits to ensure that the program promotes several forms of professional development and does not rely too heavily on one source such as internal training only. See the master list of CE Credits Document on the ALU website.

Q26: I attend several multi-day conferences a year, so does that qualify me as a Certified Professional Underwriter?

A: While you are certainly on your way, we also introduced maximum allowable credits for conference attendance. This was also to ensure that the program promoted several forms of professional development and did not rely too heavily on one source.

Q27: Does volunteering on a committee count towards CE Credits?

A: Yes! The program recognizes the importance of volunteers in our industry. You can obtain credits from your participation on a committee, preparing for a presentation, or publishing an article.

Q28: Who determines what education is job relevant?

A: Ultimately, you define the CE Credit activities that are relevant to your development and the appropriate balance of technical, business and leadership skills.

Q29: Will there be a master list of all CE credit opportunities?

A: Yes, there a master list published on the ALU website. The list provides direction, though some discretion is required as the list is not exhaustive and certain courses or educational exercises may or may not qualify. Refer to the CE Program Credits Document for a list of activities and their corresponding credit allocation.

Q30: Will the structure or content of the program change in the future?

A: Although the initial program design is not expected to have significant changes, we will monitor the program over time to ensure it is meeting the key objectives.

Q31: How do we reflect the certification in e-mail or on-line communications?

A: You can add Certified FALU or Certified Professional Underwriter to your email signature, LinkedIn profile, presentation slides, etc. For example:

Jane Smith, Certified FALU, FLMI
Underwriting Manager
XYZ Insurance

John Smith, AALU, Certified Professional Underwriter / Senior Underwriter / Life Insurance

Q32: What if I still have additional questions or need help with understanding some of the program details?

A: Participants can direct any questions by email to registrar@alu-web.com
